Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 20, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,795

A GAIN OF 400

In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.

The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertains to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. Is there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

Boston has for several months been proceeding upon the plan of arresting every man whose breath smelled of liquor on the charge of being drunk. Lowell, which is a no-license city, has a heavier record of drunks for the same period, in proportion to population, than that of Boston. This is simply a statement of facts. The reader can draw his own conclusion.

Stephen B. Roath, a wealthy citizen of Chicago, has divided a large portion of his fortune amounting to nearly a million dollars among relatives while yet alive, in order to prevent litigation after death, and also to see to what use the recipients would put the money. If all wealthy men could only be persuaded to do the same how happy some people would be.

This war game in and around Portland may be, and perhaps is, very helpful and instructive to the army, for which it is designed, but to the average reader the lengthy stories in the metropolitan press are about as interesting as a last year's almanac. General Chaffee, who is overseeing the mind warfare, says it is "a test and practice of material more than anything else," and as such it must prove of great benefit to those participating.

The pardon cranks are now seeking to secure the release of Marvin A. McClure, who was sentenced three years ago to serve a sentence of seven years in the House of Correction for his connection with the Merchants National bank default at Rutland. It is such ill-timed moves as this that tend to increase the lynch-law sentiment in Vermont as well as other states. The court was none too severe with McClure when he was sentenced, and there is absolutely no reason for his pardon.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Julia Ward Howe is eighty-four years old, but her intellectual power is in no wise diminished.

Miss Ruth Ewing of Chicago co-operates with the Humane society and goes into court to testify against brutal teamsters she has had arrested.

Mrs. Margaret Danielson of Cambridge, Minn., is 122 years old. She is the mother of two Swedish Baptist ministers and ascribes her long life to her strict adherence to the tenets of the church.

Mrs. Hattie F. Ballantyne of Pittsburg has given $30,000 to Allegheny college, in Meadville, Pa., to endow scholarships in memory of her husband, the Rev. Dr. James Alexander Ballantyne.

Miss Jessie Gibson of Indianapolis, who recently graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has just entered into partnership with her father and is the first woman architect in Indianapolis.

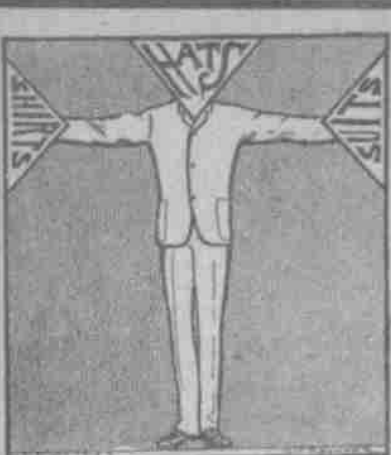

The oldest Daughter of the American Revolution, Mrs. Phoebe M. Gainesford, recently celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday at Matamoras, Pike county, Pa. Mrs. Gainesford in spite of her years is physically active, and her mind and memory are well preserved.

Mlle. Sarah Brodlo, a young lady doctor, has obtained a professional engagement on board a steamship plying between Marseilles and Algiers. The circumstance is to be noted, as Mlle. Brodlo is the first French "doctress" who has been engaged on board ship.

Miss Mary Riggs is the ninth descendant of Dr. Elias Riggs to be commissioned to carry on in Turkey the work in which he was a pioneer. Miss Riggs was born on the mission field and spent her girlhood in Marsovan, where her parents are still working.

Automobile For Sahara Desert.

Tourists in Egypt will soon be able to cross the Sahara desert in a four mile an hour automobile specially constructed for traveling over sandy wastes. The vehicle is to accommodate forty passengers. While the speed seems slow it is greater than that of canal transportation.

Completely boxed at all points of the compass by good goods at our August prices.

Ahead on Hats,
Shirts of All Kinds,
Suits in Big Variety,
Well Grounded on Shoes.

Some of these Suits are heavy enough for Autumn. The trend of the times, and wool, indicate higher prices in the Fall.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Plain Talk.

"After all," said the gloomy bore, "this life is nothing but a conundrum."
"Yes," replied the outspoken man, "and don't you think it's about time you gave it up?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Insatiable.

Mosquitoes have expensive tastes; they're hard to please, I ween. We feed the brutes on human gore And costly kerosene.
—Washington Star.

The Passing of Romance.

"Do you remember, dear, how I used to serenade you during those moonlit summer nights?"
"Yes, I remember. Now you only snore."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not a True Portrait.

She—The captain is the very picture of bravery, isn't he?
He (Genious)—Oh, I don't know. You will observe that he has a retreating forehead.—Kansas City Journal.

The Center of Observation.

"Say, paw, was you over the cynosure at all eyes?"

"Yes; the other day when I went running down the middle of the street after my hat I'll bet there wasn't a man, woman or child in town who wasn't there looking at me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Their Chance.

Jasper—Young Scandy has enough. Why doesn't he keep out of business and give others a chance?

Jumpuppie—But it is by going into business that rich young men like him give smart young men a chance to make money.—Life.

No Wonder.

She—My parrot says some awful things.
He—And who taught it to talk?
She—Oh, I did.

Awful.

"No, George, I can never be your wife."
"What! You're not going to throw me down way up here, are you?"
—New York Evening Journal.

The Paris Morgue.

The Paris morgue receives annually about 1,000 corpses. All of these bodies are identified by relatives with the exception of perhaps fifty or sixty.

Robert Burns.

Robert Burns has often been cited as an instance of unrequited genius. He lived as best he could on a small salary from the excise and died without any solid share of the fame which afterward spread throughout the world.

Persian Newspapers.

Persian newspapers are not printed from type. When the reading matter is ready it is passed to a scribe, who makes a clean copy. From this a beautifully written, fine copy is made by a handwriting expert, and this is finally reproduced by lithography.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Cleared From Our Exchanges.

E. W. Abbott of Woodstock has an apple tree in blossom.

The loss by fire at Wallingford, Sunday, which broke out in a bakery owned by I. W. Colburn, was about $10,000, half covered by insurance.

Will Beede, who works in the quarry at Woodbury, had his shoulder broken on Monday at about noon by a falling derick. He was taken to his home in Hardwick.

George A. Foote, of Charlotte, has a plum tree from which he recently picked a twig six inches long that contained 12 plums. The entire tree is as heavily laden as the one twig.

The Rev. Arthur W. Stone, formerly of Lyndonville, and Miss Cora Woodward, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George Woodward of Morrisville, were married at Boston, Wednesday evening, August 19.

The officials of the Rutland railroad are making preparations to have their engines equipped with acetylene gas headlights in place of the kerosene oil arrangements now in use, and the inventor of the acetylene light, is now in Rutland to attend to the proper equipment of the locomotives.

The finals for the Waukegan challenge cup and the Howard memorial cup were played off at the links of the Waukegan Golf Club at Burlington, Saturday, and for the former G. W. Benedict beat J. T. Stearns five up and three to play, and for the latter C. L. Woodbury beat H. S. Weed five up and three to play. The winners will hold the cups for one year.

Mrs. Kate (Ayers) Soper of Randolph writes the St. Albans Messenger: "Reading an account of the unveiling of the Westfield tablet to mark the 'Hazen road' built in the time of the 'French and Indian War,' suggests a relic of that war in the possession of a lady in Randolph of a large powder horn owned by Capt. John Ayers who was killed by the Indians in that war. I purpose giving the relic to some historical society sometime."

Odors of Flowers.

It is a remarkable fact that although there are nearly or quite 100,000 flowering plants known the relative number having odor is wonderfully small, not more than 10 per cent, in fact. In connection with this it is noteworthy that because one species of flower is endowed with sweet odor it does not necessarily follow that all or nearly all or even a fair proportion of the other species of the same family will be as favorably endowed. An illustration of this is found in the familiar mignonette. There are some fifty species of this genus known, and of them all, but one has any fragrance. Nor is it certain that the most insignificant looking flower has the greatest fragrance or the most gorgeously colored likely to be without odor, thus seemingly disproving the theory that color and fragrance are given flowers for the purpose of attracting insects to assist in cross fertilization.
